Why this matters

> For a fragrance house, the most important asset today is its digital presence. People can't smell a perfume through a screen, so what they see is what makes them buy. The biggest investment is making sure your brand reaches as many people as possible, while keeping one clear identity that is only yours. That is what builds a lasting commercial advantage over other brands.

So this is not a budget for "ads". It is marketing that brings customers: a steady flow of films that put Scent of Africa in front of new people every day, in a look no one else has. Sixteen fragrances, the legends behind them, ingredients from across the continent and the Akua'ba launch in December give us stories for every day of the month.

WHAT WE MAKE

Full cinematic films
Story-led brand and product films, built around the legend and the notes of each fragrance.

AI viral formats
The short-form styles that travel on Reels and TikTok, made around your bottles.

Trending hook ads
Fast openings built on current trends, made to stop the scroll and bring people to your page.

Business and store films
Your real store, enhanced with AI visual effects, so a visit feels like an experience.

> AI realism is our specialty. We build every one of your bottles as a 3D model and render it with the leading industry-standard AI models. It looks like a studio shoot, and your bottles stay exact in every film.

> Everything is original. From the footage to the music, everything in our films is made for you. Each film gets its own original soundtrack, so there are no copyright problems on posts or paid ads. If you'd like to use a favourite track instead, just tell us.

YOUR FIRST FILM IS FREE

As a demo, we make your first film free, with no obligation. Anancy would be a natural first choice: the storyteller of Ghanaian folklore, a fragrance of strength and softness. A film can be built around the legend, the journey of its ingredients, or the majesty of the bottle itself. We bring our full creative input, and the film is yours to post whatever you decide afterwards.

We work with top brands in their niches, including Maison Yusif Fragrance, named 2026 Fragrance Brand of the Year at the Ghana Beauty Awards.

THE LEVEL WE WORK AT

Since October we have moved our whole production to a new level, and our rates reflect it. This is what goes into every piece:

Your bottles in 3D
Every bottle is rebuilt as a 3D model, so the glass, cap and label are exact in every shot, from every angle.

The top AI models
We render with the leading industry-standard AI video and image models, not the budget ones that warp labels and look artificial.

A story, not just scenes
Every film starts with a concept and a script from us, built around the legend and the notes of the fragrance.

Original sound
An original score composed for each film, sound design, and voice-over in English or French.

Finished like a commercial
Hand-finished edit and colour grade, masters up to 4K, delivered in every format you need.

Made to perform
Hooks and formats built for Reels and TikTok, so the films travel, and reach new customers.
